

"My Europe is the bridge between the European youth and the European politicians. Choose me and together we will make the best looking bridge the world has ever seen."

GOALS

ARMAND NAESSENS

CHAIRMAN

I am Armand Naessens, winner of the writing contest at the My Europe Brussels workshop in 2015, and member of the working group Youth Unemployment. I am willing to contribute more to My Europe and the Youth council for the future by standing up as candidate chairman.

I am 20 years old and live in Brussels, the capital of Belgium and Europe. I study engineering at Ghent University and I combine this with competitive sailing; here I have to show strong leadership as skipper, and motivate my team to sail successfully through the strongest storms. I also have experience as chairman and founder of my high school student council, and as member of the youth council of Hasselt city, Belgium.

Connecting even more European students and generating an even bigger European student network; therefore, creating more formal and informal moments to interact.

Addressing our thoughts, opinions and ideas to policymakers nationally and on a European scale, to show that our Youth council exists, and our ideas are being read and shared to better our future.

Creating an open minded atmosphere where creativity can thrive and members are stimulated to develop their ideas into real actions by providing them with the necessary human and material resources.
